

BUSCHiNG Rubber block

Description

For electric and hybrid vehicles

The rubber block is used for scissor lifts for electric cars. It is robust and can also be used to lift other electric hybrid SUVs. It is crucial that the rubber block is positioned correctly to ensure that the vehicle's support points are hit precisely and no damage occurs. Limited universal use, provided the shape, size and weight of the vehicle in question and the vehicle's support points match the body and tapered shape of the block.
