Description

Strong, stable, supple
If you are looking for a professional racing shoe, there is no way around FIZIK's "Infinito Carbon 2". With innovations tested by professionals, this model impresses with its versatile Microtext upper material. It is supple, strong and stable at the same time and hugs your foot perfectly.

The "R2" carbon outsole promises a high level of stiffness, with an index of 10, making it one of FIZIK's stiffest soles. The cleats are positioned comparatively far back - this increases pedaling efficiency even more, especially in aggressive aero riding positions. The good ventilation is just the cherry on top.

To adapt the shoe precisely to your foot shape, you can adjust and fine-tune the tightness using the two BOA dials. The newly designed BOA dials are located on the instep and in the forefoot area. They are now flatter in shape, smaller in diameter and therefore more aerodynamic than before.
